The Lindamood Phoneme Sequencing® (LiPS®) program helps children develop the sensory-cognitive function of phonemic awareness. Unlike most reading, spelling and phonics programs, LiPS instruction directly applies phonemic awareness to the identification & sequencing of sounds in words. Students in the LiPS program move through a series of steps to learn how their mouths produce the sound of language. This kinesthetic feedback enables them to verify the identity and sequence of sounds within words, and to become self-correcting in reading, spelling, and speech. This group is appropriate for children experiencing difficulty learning to read, specifically with decoding skills.

Students in the V/V program learn to create an image gestalt, then integrate that imagery with language to strengthen their comprehension and critical thinking. This program has been proven successful for individuals exhibiting symptoms of hyperlexia, ADHD, ASD, CAPD and other learning difficulties.
